CKH Consulting, LLC

Auditing 101 For Municipalities

Date: December 8, 2026, 1:00pm - 2:00pm EST

This beginner-level course is designed to help local government clerks, finance teams, and accounting staff better understand the purpose of a government financial statement audit and the process from an auditor's perspective. Participants will learn how auditors assess risk, evaluate financial records, and gather evidence to form their audit opinions. The session will walk through the key phases of a governmental audit, common audit findings, the different types of audit testing, and the importance of accurate recordkeeping, supporting documentation, and effective communication with auditors. Attendees will leave with a clearer understanding of not just what auditors request, but why.

Participants will learn:

- The purpose of a financial statement audit and the concept of reasonable assurance
- How auditors think and build assurance through their risk-based audit approach
- Key audit assertions and how they are used to design audit procedures
- How auditors obtain audit evidence
- The audit process from start to finish
- The client's role in an efficient and timely audit completion
